VOL. XVIII.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1890.

NO. 67

CRAB ORCHARD.

—The protracted meeting at Ephesus closed Thursday night with 16 additions. —Isaac Herrin bought this week of Josiah Mullins 5 head of cattle, averaging 915 pounds, at 2½ cents. John Buchanan sold to James Yantis 32 fat hogs, averaging 284 pounds, at 3.70 per cwt., which he will ship to Cincinnati at once.

—The W. C. T. U. medal contest will occur Tuesday night at the Baptist church and will be participated in by ten of C. O.'s prettiest girls, each of whom, with a recitation, will attempt to carry off the handsomely engraved silver medal offered by the W. C. T. U. Judge W. O. Hansford, Rev. J. G. Livingston and Mr. R. Lee Davis have been selected as judges of the contest.

—The supper, which the ladies of the Christian Aid Society gave Friday night, at the College, was one of the most elegant "spreads" of substantial and dainties ever attempted here and the public was not slow to find it out. Plates were uncovered for 100 or more and about $40 realized. Mrs. J. S. Fish, Mrs. W. R. Dillion, Mrs. J. H. Stephens, Mrs. Jael Cooper, Mrs. J. C. King and Mrs. S. Brooks were the getters-up of the feast, which fact of itself is equivalent to saying that it could not have been excelled.

—Six weeks ago Prof. Smith offered a prize—an ink portrait of George Washington, drawn by Prof. Smith himself—to the boy or girl who should make the most improvement in writing during that time. Friday afternoon the specimens of writing, numbering some 30 or more, were examined by Prof. McClary, Mr. D. B. Emsiston and Miss Sallie Green, who unhesitatingly decided in favor of little Davy Holman. Davy's having but one hand and that one left, rather shamed the efforts of the other boys and girls and makes the prize all the more deserved.

—J. Ward Moore is back from Middleboro feeling somewhat like a bloated millionaire. Mrs. Sallie Magee, of Pineville, and Mrs. Ellen Clifford, of Williamsburg, were here this week visiting their father, Mr. Reese Ward. Dr. W. M. Doores left Thursday for Denver, Lamar and other points in Colorado. As he, some 25 years ago, journeyed over the same route, in a wagon train, before the days of railroads, the trip in Pullman palace coaches will be quite a revelation to him. Mr. Simon Higgins, who has for the last year been with a surveying corps in Eastern Kentucky, is at home with his parents. His stay away has developed for him a set of fine, black whiskers, which make him look strange, but all the more handsome to his former friends. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McClary, the newly wedded of your city, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bailey Friday, and took in the "to-do" of the pedagogues. Mr. Joe Brooks, of Louisville, arrived Saturday with his mother and sister. Mr. J. C. Rinehart, who is now riding deputy sheriff in Bell, was here on business this week. Messrs. S. W. Parris and Charley Cox, two of the "Angels of Commerce," honored our merchants with calls Saturday. Mr. James Bailey, of Brodhead, is thumbing the wires in Mrs. Newland's office. Mrs. Maggie Curtis and children, of Somerset, are at Rev. A. C. Newland's. Little Miss Mamie Holman, of Brodhead, is the guest of Miss Pearl Collier.

—TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.—According to announcement, the Lincoln County Teachers' Association met Friday evening in the Christian church, which was specially tendered them by the Aid Society, and proceeded to carry out the interesting programme arranged for the meeting. Altho' there were not as many teachers present as was expected, there was no dearth of interest or lack of entertainment, and the large audience—the largest, perhaps, with which the association has been honored since it became an organization, lent an attentive-ness to the proceedings, which inclined one to think that the wit, wisdom and eloquence struck off by was not wasted on the desert air. Mr. R. Lee Davis, in a brief address of welcome, extended to the visiting teachers the courtesies and hospitalities of the citizens, to which Prof. W. F. McClary responded in one of his happiest vein. Mrs. Annie Carrier then came forward and read an instructive essay entitled, "What Education Means," after which Prof. McClary took up "What We Want to Accomplish," detailing some of the defects in the school system of the county, noticeable in his recent official tour over the various districts, and giving some idea of what is necessary to be done to put the schools in better shape for future work. Squire J. A. Chappell followed with a 25 minutes' talk, in which he took a swipe at the incompetency of trustees, and indulged in a little invective against the strategic methods often resorted to by teachers to obtain certificates. After him Mr. R. Lee Davis took up the thread of discussion, and talked at some length on the need of better school-houses, better school-furniture and better attendance at school. He compared the Kentucky system of popular education with that of the Northern States, and wound up by saying that he hoped the con. would incorporate Mr. Phelps' compulsory education article in the constitution. Prof. Frye, of Rowland, in his easy, unconventional way, supplemented the theme with some excellent suggestions on the need of a uniform series of text books, and thought a general casting-away or burning-up of old, out-of-date authors was necessary. "How to Secure Advancement," a paper by Miss Alice Stuart, which treated of the subject quite learnedly and exhaustively, was attentively listened to and elicited laudatory comments from the whole association. At this juncture Prof. J. P. Davall, principal of the school at Brodhead, arrived, and, consenting to participate in the exercises, was introduced by Prof. J. W. Smith and made a very characteristic speech of 30 minutes' duration on "Educational Advancement," which was brimful of sound sense and humor. He advocated an abandonment of the old methods of teaching and blazing out a way, which would better suit this onward and upward age. He was vociferously cheered. "Psychology," upon which Prof. Smith was booked to appear, brought that gentleman to his feet, and the expectations of the audience got on tip-toe to hear him, but instead of knitting his expansive brow and diving into the murky depths of that profoundly abstruse subject, he coolly and calmly stated that his bread-basket was empty, the audience restless, and that it would be better to adjourn to the supper and listen to him on the morrow. This was the proper caper and the audience jumped at the suggestion.

At 9 o'clock Saturday morning the association reassembled. Business occupied the early hours. Mr. R. Lee Davis, who had been appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws for the association, had those important documents ready and done up in plenty of red tape, and submitted them to the body, which adopted them unanimously with an amendment, providing for the admission into the association of all who have once been teachers; and with an alteration, affecting the initiation fee and monthly dues. Prof. Smith, who had been regaled with supper and breakfast, and resuscitated with a night of sweet repose, was importuned for his views on Psychology, promised the night before, and discussed that subject as it pertains to educational work; in quite a knowing and interesting way. Memory, reproductive imagination and constructive imagination, the leading elements of this mysterious "ology," was diagrammed and elucidated with some of the professor's rich and racy anecdotes, which set the subject in a royal light to all and made it so plain that neither a wise man nor a fool could fail to understand it. His talk was indeed the feature of the association, and was intensely enjoyed by all. Mr. Davis and Prof. Frye supplemented Prof. Smith's remarks with some ideas for cultivating the psychological faculties, which contained some practical points for both teachers and pupils. The advisability of choosing an editor for the association was agitated by Miss Alice Stuart, and resulted in the selection of Prof. Frye. A committee was then appointed to arrange a programme for the next meeting and the association adjourned at 11 A. M., to meet at Stanford on the first Friday and Saturday in November. Those who failed to attend this meeting of the association missed one of the good things of life.

Well, "warnt it a good meeting. Has the association more friends, among the ladies or the gentlemen? It was hard to tell looking over "that big audience."

The music furnished the association by Mrs. Hannah Steger added immensely to the entertaining feature of the meeting.

How will Prof. McClary harmonize those "crowded seats" and "empty array of benches?"

Squire Chappell says he will be at the next meeting to "ex-tribute some more of his views."

The cornet band made quite a demonstration and its music was much enjoyed.

The next time Prof. Davall comes we promise that no "malitia" shall disturb him.

Several of the teachers were conspicuous for their absence, namely, Messrs. Hughes, Wolford, Riffe and Allen.

Somebody bring Prof. Smith a lunch at the next meeting of the association.

Ask McClary about that gesture that Davis got off in one of his speeches.

—The whole financial system of this country was saved this year by the $300,000,000 worth of cotton sold abroad, and the McKinley bill seeks to drive it from foreign markets by the atrocious tax on bagging and ties. The same suicidal system has nearly driven our wheat and pork and beef from the markets of the world.

—James Maxwell was hung at Morris Hill, Friday, for murder. He showed no signs of fear and when the sheriff tremblingly adjusted the noose, he quietly remarked: "Brace up, old man, you are much more troubled about this thing than I am."

HUSTONVILLE.

—Robinson & Givens have 49 cotton mule colts for sale.

—A protracted meeting began at the Baptist church Saturday night. Rev. Crouch, of Louisville, is assisting Rev. Riffe, the pastor.

—Robertson & Givens sold 34 2-year-old cotton mules to Andy Rice. Couldn't obtain price. Dave Allen sold to J. P. Riffe 20 calves at $20 per head; weight, 640. Same sold Mrs. Maggie Carpenter, 25 shoats, 75 pounds, at $1.

—Miss Emma Belden, accompanied Miss Alice Cabell home from Lebanon and will spend awhile with friends and relatives in West Lincoln and Casey. Capt. Clay Blain is up from Grant county on a visit. The captain wrestles successfully with the changes of time and seems no older than when a citizen of Lincoln 15 years ago.

—Few citizens of the West End are of more stately mien and genial manners than John Reid, but that his rotund countenance should have lately so persistently worn an ear-to-ear smile—which would embellish the head of a funny column in Puck—was incomprehensible, till it was possible for Mrs. Grundy to get around with the glad tidings that a 91-pound boy is at John's.

—We regret greatly that in betraying Squire Adams we should have played into Jim Cook's hands by an error in the preliminary cognomen of his factotum. 'Tis Bill, not Alex Cooper, who is authority on all points pertaining to the monstrosities produced in the Squire's garden. Dave Allen claims that he's some gardener himself. We hope to be able soon to be more specific about Dave's excellencies. Mrs. John Goode has grown some of the most mammoth peppers ever dreamt of in this section. I measured a pod 12 inches in circumference and it was appreciably wilted.

—A crayon specimen of Miss Sallie Elkin's execution, on exhibition at the drug store of Cook & Weatherford, evinces talent of a very superior order. The conspicuous accuracy of likeness to the small photograph, of which the crayon is an enlargement, and the delicacy of finish suggests the work of the camera rather than brush and pencil of an artist. Hustonville College is fortunate in having secured the services of so competent an artist as Miss Elkin. Wm. Reid, Sr., is confined to his room by sciatica, which attacks him periodically. John says the old man is infinitely more trouble than the new grand-son. Dick Newland was up the latter part of last week collecting taxes. It would have been a better haul than a pay train to have held Dick up as he went home Saturday.

—A veteran stock dealer of the West End was lately lured into Marion county by a handsome widower son, who took in the Marion Fair, nominally, and was presumably reliable authority on the prospects of collecting a nice lot of yearling steers. A bee-line was struck for Lebanon, the old gentleman decoyed in to bed about sunset and the young prospector was off to make inquiries about the best route for next day's rambles (?), promising to be in early. In the small hours of the night the hotel and surroundings were disturbed by the young man's efforts to obtain admittance, and the old man was aroused from refreshing sleep and inspiring dreams to the realization that a large pair of glittering blue eyes had so confused George's vision that he didn't know the difference between a premium short-horn and an East Tennessee two-head. Not a single hoof bennet, of course.

—The oldest business men declare last week the dullest they ever knew. Corn-cutting and wheat sowing monopolized the farmers, and the individuals of leisure were either gathering statistics for a report on the chestnut crop, or putting their time in fishing. Speaking of fishing, it is a prominent weakness of humanity to ride a free horse mercilessly, and some subjects become yawningly monotonous, after having been discussed a few hundreds of times, but it does appear that a fatality follows every effort to break old Roan in as a good back for fishing excursions. The professor's hand is still in a sling and he continues so badly off in memory he is compelled to open letters before it is possible for him to decide whether 'tis his Dulcinea's caligraphy or another Williams'. One of the pupils returned to town, after their last excursion, on crutches, and is minute in the details of how his old cow frisked round her tail in Henry's eyes and kicked the pail of milk all over creation, tumbled over the milk man, sat down on him, walked over him, almost murdered him. Cudium plainly manifests a little incredulity when discussing the accidents, but he hasn't been able to arouse many doubts that the professor uses the regulation jug-bait with his last class. But, doesn't the name Cudium strike you? Thereby hangs the joke. Ide was a prompt, lively youngster at school, who preempted a seat at the end of the class, which he held without contest. On an occasion it was put to the class to explain the composition cwt. Ide's hand went up, his fingers snapped: "I know it, I know it!" He couldn't stand still, so impatient was he for it to reach his end of the class. When his chance came, singing out "Cudium! Cudium!" he was half way to the head of the class before persnaded that he had not driven centre on that subject. Cudium is a rolling mass of jollity, who is responsible for many good ones, but so modest that we must save them to splice out with, as at present.

—We learn that a project is on foot to dispose of Cumberland Falls to a stock company. Billy Williams has the matter in hand and success is assured. By the way, it has leaked out that Ex-Congressman Finley is manœuvring in the interest of a railroad to connect the L. & N. with the C. S. by way of the Falls. Should that materialize, we imagine that the water power at the Falls will be a bonanza.

—Since Nall removed to Yosemite Dr. Brown has presumed to forecast the weather, and confident that his neighbors were wasting time and labor in housing and covering their flowers, left his flower garden exposed last Tuesday night, and has since been mourning the loss of all his annals, of which he had a rare collection.

—I. F. Steele has reopened the Wash drugstore, with G. F. Peacock behind the counter. As Freely's intimacy with drugs dates back to about the time that Varnon is supposed to have killed Tecumseh, it is unnecessary to give the hypothesis a pointer.

—Tom Simpson has rented the Joe Huffman farm near town for a 91-acre corn field. Tom says that Joe will get almost the worth of his place for his year's rent, but Tom is a boss corn raiser and the chances are in his favor.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—One good Jersey milk cow for sale. W. B. McRoberts.

—James Reynolds sold to J. K. Baughman a pair of mules for $325.

—Col. Underwood sold B. F. Robinson 16 head of 2-year-old heifers and steers at 2½ cents.

—L. M. Lesley's Hart Wallace ran in the race for 2-year-old maidens at Latonia, but was not placed.

—T. J. Cress, of Rockcastle, bought of various parties in the East End, a carload of fat 1,400-pound cattle at 3½ to 3¢.

—J. J. Vaughn has bought 50 acres of land of Miss Amanda Goggin, near State Branch Church, at $10.—Somerset Republican.

—Stamboul, the California stallion, lowered his own and broke Axtell's record Saturday, doing the mile in 2:11½ at Napa, Cal.

—A shipment of 7,000 bales of cotton from Pensacola, Fla., to Great Britain, last week, was the first movement of the kind for some years.

—Sales of corn in the field at $2, yearling mules at $7 and 100 head of 1,200-pound cattle at 3½ are reported in the Harrodsburg Democrat.

—W. H. Bush bought in Montgomery county 198 head of cattle, from 1,475 to 1,625 pounds, at 4 to 4½. Col. Johnson bought 85 feeders at 3½.—Sentinel.

—The Lexington trots closed yesterday. Nancy Hanks won three straight heats over Bonnie Wilmore, Mattie H. and Glenview Belle in 2:22, 2:21½ and 2:15½.

—Bud Tribble has sold 73 fat cattle to Rubenstein & Harris, Cincinnati, at 4½ cents. Thomas Gibson purchased of James P. Tribble his farm of 250 acres, three miles from Richmond, for $17,500.—Register.

—J. K. and M. S. Baughman bought the following standard-bred stallions at Woodward's sale at Lexington last week: George Dictator 3682, Almont Star 4748, Inglesw 5799, Naboth 10016 and Lucifer 4130. They paid an average of $425 for them. M. S. Baughman also bought of a Lexington party a pair of geldings for $400.

—A fair crowd attended L. F. Sharpe's sale Friday, but little save a few farming implements was sold. The bidding was not fast enough for Mr. Sharpe and he attempted to stir things up by making bids himself. This demoralized those who had come with the intention of buying and the sale was postponed indefinitely. The farm of 47 acres was taken down at $2,430.

—M. G. Weisger sold to George Cogar 1,320 bushels of wheat at 90 cents. John Cowan sold his crop at same price.

There has been a good deal of complaint among the farmers on account of the injury done the growing wheat by some kind of a fly. Mr. Jere Sandidge had to plant his crop the second time, and it is feared that a number of other fields will have to be replanted.—Advocate.

—Rev. Durant, a colored preacher, who claimed to have the power to raise the dead, killed Primus Jones when he expressed doubts as to his supernatural powers, but failing to raise him up again, the law laid its heavy hand on the reverend fraud and he now languishes in the Columbia, S. C. jail, on a charge of murder.

—LaGrippe is getting its grip again on many people all over the country.

For Congress,

JAMES B. MCCREARY.

AFTER a three days and nights' session Congressman Dickerson was re-nominated in the 6th district, on the 330th ballot. The candidates besides him were Messrs. Hallam, Berry and Applegate. The latter was dropped on the 308th ballot and the 310th stood, 321 votes for each of the three other candidates. A number of ballots were taken with the same result, when Dickerson's name was withdrawn. It required 49 votes to nominate Berry and Hallam both got 43 on the next ballot. After a recess, and finding he could not win himself, Hallam's forces brought out Dickerson again and he was nominated by a good majority. Berry was the strongest single man before the convention and would have been nominated but for the combination of Dickerson and Hallam. There was a good deal of ill-feeling engendered of course and if this kind of business keeps up, the 6th district, which has been so reliably democratic, will become debatable ground.

THE Junction City meeting of the democratic executive committee of the 11th district, resulted in the unanimous nomination of E. J. Howard, of Middleboro, for Congress. Owing to the shortness of the time intervening between now and the election and the extent of territory composing the district, he will not be able to see the voters in person, but the committee commends him as a sound democrat and a man that is right upon all the questions now dividing the parties. We appeal to you, says the committee, to go to the polls on Nov. 4 and cast your votes for him, and thereby you will vote against the iniquities of the Force bill and the McKinley bill.

JUSTICE is sometimes meted out with a rapidity that should always characterize it. Indiana furnishes an example that other States would do well to emulate. Friday night Ernest Harris robbed a New Albany man. He was arrested the same night and taken to Jeffersonville. The grand jury being in session he was at once indicted and his trial had. By 10:30 A. M. a sentence of 4 years had been passed on him and at 11 he was in the penitentiary and had donned the stripes. That's the way to make crime odious.

THE republicans of the 9th district tried to get in their work on the Farmers' Alliance by meeting before breakfast on the day that body was to assemble at Vanceburg, and nominating a candidate which they called "the nominee of the Alliance for Congress." But the farmers are not all fools by a jugfull and when they met later in the day, they denounced and repudiated the nomination and intimated to the republican leaders that they could get along without their dictation or assistance.

O. O. S., the Courier-Journal's well-known Washington correspondent, has been taking a tour of Indiana to see how the political land lays and after careful investigation he thinks that the democrats will carry the State on the 4th. The democratic State ticket is almost sure of election while we will get 8 and perhaps 9 congressmen out of the 13. To do this, however, earnest and persistent effort will have to be put forth till the last hour.

THE recount of the votes in the Covington election gives Thomas, the republican candidate, a majority of 146 for mayor. The vote was by the Australian plan, which the Commonwealth has so long claimed would produce wonders for good. The old fashioned viva voce is good enough for us. The secret ballot is a delusion and a snare. A man too cowardly to let the world know how he votes is unworthy of the right of suffrage.

JOHN S. WISE says that Old Virginia will give a democratic majority this year anywhere from 30,000 to 60,000. The Force bill, the seating of the negro Langston and the numerous other mistakes of the republicans in Congress have made the State as near solidly democratic as she can get. He thinks it a good time for republicans like himself to go fishing and remain till his party learns some sense.

JUDGE RUSSELL, of Lebanon, is not appreciated in the 4th district. He only got 800 votes in a total of 8,500 and carrying Marion alone by a small majority. The judge ought to have known better than to have subjected himself to such a test of his standing and popularity.

SOME time ago a fellow from Indianapolis was around offering a wonderful Webster's dictionary for an ad. A good many of our contemporaries bit at the bait and we should like to know if they were caught. Don't all speak at once.

THERE is another scandal leaking out in Secretary Noble's department. It is in the general land office this time and the prospects are that Commissioner Groff will soon be asked to step down and out. A nice kettle of fish, to be sure.

THERE died at Moundsville, W. Va., last week, a man who deserves more than a passing mention. His name was Charles Brandon and no man ever obeyed more fully the injunction to increase and multiply than he. He was thrice married. His first wife died early in the action, after giving birth to two children. After a reasonable season of mourning, Mr. Brandon married again and his second wife, after presenting him with 18 sons and daughters, went hence to her reward. Mr. Brandon was now past three score and ten, but feeling about as young as he used to be, he laid siege to the heart of a maiden of sweet sixteen, and although he was 75, she gracefully yielded and became his wife. She also went into the infantry industry and when, last of all, the old man died at 96, she had 15 children to show for her work. Of the 35 children, thus accounted for, 17 served in the Union army and are now all drawing pensions, no doubt, like all good patriots should.

A CAREFUL survey of the congressional chances convinces the New York Herald that the democratic majority in the next House will be 18 at the lowest calculation. It does seem that after the disgraceful record made by the party in power during the last session of Congress, there should be no difficulty in the democrats carrying the next House, but the odds are mighty wary and will use boodle and every other fraudulent means to thwart the will of the people. Every democrat should see to it that his vote is cast for honesty and good government at the approaching election.

Assassination by Lightning Flash.

Saturday night about 9 o'clock a fearful storm was raging at Alpine, Tex. Samuel Taylor was seated at a table playing cards with three others. Suddenly there was a lightning flash, a loud report, and Taylor, gasping and bleeding, fell from his chair. The night operator uttered a cry of pain, and he, too, fell. It was found that Taylor was dead, he having received fifteen buckshot under the left arm. The operator was also badly wounded. Fiveshots had entered the small of his back. A Mexican had also one of the bullets in his shoulder. The assassin fired from a window, and both barrels of his gun are supposed to have been emptied at once.

Two years ago Taylor killed Passenger Conductor Server at Valentine, on the Southern Pacific. The killing created the wildest excitement among the railroad men, as Server was very popular among trainmen throughout the state. At the time of the killing Taylor's right eye was shot out. About eighteen months ago he was shot at through a window with a Winchester rifle in the Haymakers' saloon at Galveston, Tex., and barely escaped death. No arrests have thus far been made, and the murderer is unknown. It is presumed that some friend of Server took this method of avenging his death. The operator's wounds are considered fatal. The Mexican will also die.—Cor. St. Louis Republic.

A Huge Fountain of Oil.

A forty quart shot was thrown into the Gibson well at Wildwood recently with dire results. This well, owned by the Bridgewater Gas company, has recently changed into a gasser and was shot to open up the oil product. The object was attained, but the casing was broken by the concussion, and for twenty-four hours it was impossible to shut in the large volume of oil, shooting with such terrific force as to throw it out over the top of the fifty foot derrick. The output since the agitation is estimated at thirty-five barrels an hour, fifteen of which is a total loss. On approaching the well the oil descends in a shower and every tree, bush and shrub within a radius of 100 yards is covered with a coating of oil. The greater part of the fluid, however, is thrown into the field, whence it runs in a small rivulet to the creek below, and can be traced as far as the Allegheny river.—Cor. Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

Painted Shirt Fronts.

The latest reliable fashion news from Paris notifies us that hand painted dress shirts are to be the exceptionally elegant thing for the coming season. These delicious original devices of fashion are to be decorated in designs appropriate to the wearer's tastes or practices.

Thus the yachtsman in full dress will display upon his manly bosom a water color drawing of a regatta or the portrait of his favorite craft; the devotee of dogs will have his front elevation embellished with canine designs instead of diamond studs; the horseman will wear horse races or stable scenes on his starched linen, and in a similar style each individual hobby, fad or characteristic indulgence of the man of fashion may, at his pleasure, mirror itself to the world as a legitimate part of his outfit.—Philadelphia Record.

No Smallpox in Ireland.

Not a single death from smallpox was registered in Ireland last year. From this scourge, at all events, "the distressed country" appears to be gradually freeing itself. Over the last ten years the average annual number of deaths was 130, but this average is due to the more serious state of things prevailing in the early stages of the decade. Since 1883 there has only been one year in which the number of deaths from smallpox was as high as fourteen. That was in 1887. In 1885 there were but four deaths from smallpox registered in Ireland; in 1886, two; in 1884 there was only one; in 1889 there were three, and, as above stated, in 1889 there was not one.—London News.

Danger from Electric Fans.

An accident has just occurred in Georgia which shows the necessity of the guard which is now generally fixed over the ventilating fans worked by electric motors. The manager of the engineering department of an electric light works had been superintending the putting in of a new exhaust fan, and was watching its first trial. As he was feeling the shaft to see if the journals were hot the suction drew his hand in, and in an instant it was cut off between the wrist and the elbow. The fan was revolving at the rate of 1,000 revolutions a minute, and it is said that the arm was cut off as clean as if it had been done by a knife.—Detroit News.

Preparing for Winter.

A real estate dealer who missed a number of signs he had planted in the northeastern part of the city took a scout among the inhabitants, and in one back yard he found no less than twenty different "For Sale" signs of other bearing his own, "Apply to —." When he undertook to recover his property, however, a Polish woman set a dog on him and ran him off, accompanied by an exclamation which seemed to interpret: "If my husband was only here he'd teach you better than to come around trying to steal the fire wood we've laid up for the winter!"—Detroit Free Press.

Something New to Compete For.

Dink Melvin, a veteran fisherman on the waters adjacent to Albany, is considered the most expert bateau paddler in this section. He offers to wager $100 that in the swiftest current he can paddle a boat eighteen inches wide between two posts nineteen inches apart.—Cor. Atlanta Constitution.

A War Ship in Hoosier Waters.

The United States war ship Michigan is in port on a recruiting trip. She carries 110 men and boys. The boat was built in 1844, and the iron in her was hauled overland to Pittsburg with ox teams. She is still good for several years.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Our speculations have been so extensive that additional warerooms had to be secured for the storage of our immense purchases. This means that

Low Prices Will Ever Prevail

ELIAS WERN, one of the Crabtree gang of counterfeiters, who was sent to the penitentiary for six years in 1884, seems to be again in for it. He was arrested several days ago, near his old haunts around Shelby City, and is now before the U. S. court in Louisville. The detectives claim to have him dead to rights for another term.

FINED.—Marshal Newland lodged Josh Dye, Buie Wren, Bill Stratton and Rice Riley in jail Saturday for drunkenness and disorderly conduct and they spent Sunday meditating over the vanities of the world, the flesh and the devil. Yesterday they were before Judge Carson, who let them off with a fine of $5 each and a reprimand.

THIEVES continue to get in their work in the Hanging Fork bridge neighborhood. Judge Stephen Burch is the last to suffer. Some bacon and most of a hog just killed went to feed the thieving scoundrels. We expect to hear shortly of somebody getting his head shot off. The people of that section have stood all they care to.

A SCOLDBLIER in the Lancaster Record says there were 11 arrests for drunkenness here county court day. The truth is bad enough so there is no necessity for prevarication. There were two arrests, a white man and a negro. We would suggest to the scribe that it would be better for him to follow George Washington's example and Grover Cleveland's advice in this as well as all other matters.

THE Somerset court closed at midnight Saturday, after a busy session of 12 days, during which court was held till after 10 o'clock nine of the nights. Six men were sent to the penitentiary, including A. M. Price, for the murder of Shiplett, seven years, and Thomas and Charles Jones, father and son, three years each for killing Bud Ping. There was a hung jury in the cases of Doolin and Cope for killing young Watson, who disturbed a church gathering.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The fall term of this court began yesterday, with his honor, Judge T. Z. Morrow, on the bench, looking none the worse for his Somerset seige. The first business was the swearing in of the grand-jury, as follows: H. T. Bush, foreman; Weed Smith, Harry Dunn, J. A. Lytle, T. M. White, J. T. Martin, J. W. Bailey, J. C. King, Ike Herron, George M. Givens, Robert Barnett, G. N. Bradley, Monroe Curtis, Aaron Noaks, Sam Bishop, Wm. Underwood. Judge Morrow then delivered a comprehensive charge and there being no further business, adjourned his court till this morning at 9. The standing juries were not summoned until to-day, when the docket begins. By this means the judge saves a good deal for the Commonwealth, as usually nothing is done the first day, but get ready for business which has now been done.

I WILL return from the city Thursday with a large line of the latest styles in hats and bonnets. Ladies call and examine my stock. Mrs. Katie Elkin.

KILLED.—Wm. Faubush, a Garrard county farmer, was thrown from his horse Saturday afternoon, from which he sustained injuries that caused his death the same night.

THE Danville & Crab Orchard Turnpike Co. having served an injunction on the directors of the Stanford & Logans Creek pike, to prevent them from going to work, the latter threaten to indict the former and also sue them for damages.

HISTORY.—Hon. F. F. Bobbitt is now soliciting subscriptions for his History of the United States, which will contain 600 pages and be sold at the low price of $2. He says it is going like hot cakes. Some sample pages will be given in our next.

ATTENTION HUNTERS.—Hon. R. C. Warren says the published Game Law is incorrect. Come to headquarters for breech and muzzle loading guns, powder shot and loaded shells, at low prices for cash, without any new tariff duties added. W. B. McRoberts.

As the "Game Law," published over the signatures of several gentlemen in our last two issues, has created considerable talk, Hon. R. C. Warren desires us to say that the act does not include the boundary given, unless the owners of the lands within it signed the petition for its enactment, neither does it give a lien on the gun, dog, &c., but requires that all lines shall be worked out, if not paid or replevied. There is nothing in the act which prevents any of the gentlemen named in it from giving their consent for hunters to enter their premises, if they see fit.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Dave Collier and Mrs. Annie Jennings, a widow of 33 years, were married at Rowland Saturday.

—Dr. W. B. McClure, late of Junction City, is to marry Miss Mattie Berkeley, of Lexington, Nov. 4. His first wife was Miss Hattie, daughter of Mr. H. C. Farris, of this place.

—Miss Ettie Junius and Mr. Jesse B. Litsey, of Harrodsburg, are to be married Oct. 28, and the prospective bride honors an old sweetheart in his office with an invitation.

—Miss Florence Briscoe Wells, of Owensboro, the pretty little artist who was connected with the Female College here for a short time, is to become a wife on the 30th. Mr. Ben M. Brazzel is the fortunate gentleman and he is also of Owensboro. We join the young lady's many friends here in wishing her a long life of unalloyed happiness.

DEATHS' DOINGS.

—William Routen, of near McKinney, died Friday of typhoid fever. He was a son of Mr. W. G. Routen and was an exceptionally moral young man.

—Mrs. Alice Straub Johnson, wife of Mr. W. W. Johnson, died Saturday at her home at Brentwood, Tenn., of blood poisoning. She had suffered intensely for about 10 days, but a short while before her death she became unconscious and remained so until the end. Mrs. Johnson was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Straub and was a devout member of the Methodist church. She leaves besides her husband, five children, who will sadly miss a mother's tender care. Her remains were brought here and after an appropriate service by Rev. T. J. Godbey, Sunday, were interred in Buffalo Cemetery.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Gen. Green Clay Smith will hereafter luxuriate on a pension of $16 a month.

—The St. Andrews Episcopal church, Louisville, was dedicated Sunday by Bishops Dudley and Penick. It cost $58,000 and is a beauty.

—Rev. A. S. Moffett is writing of his travels to his home paper, the Midway Clipper. His last letter, written from Ireland, is very interesting and instructive.

—The Danville District Sunday-school Conference begins at the Methodist church here to-night. Rev. E. H. Pearce will be the first speaker. The meeting will last till Friday morning.

—The Conference of the Northern Methodist church, which met last week in Barboursville, sent L. R. Godbey to Highland; C. T. Stamp to Harrodsburg; Henry Tuckley to London and John Godbey to Middleburg.

—Since the editors enjoyed Owensboro's hospitality and told so much about it, nearly every organization wants to meet there. The Kentucky Synod at its session in Louisville voted to hold its next in the capital of Davies.

—The Somerset Republican has good authority for stating that the Rev. T. V. Gowan, claiming to be from Jacksonville, Fla., is a very mean fraud. He borrowed a horse and sold it, and when the parents of a trusting young girl he had married in Pulaski found him out they made her leave him. Mr. Gowan is said to be in Laurel or Rockcastle now hunting for more dupes.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

—F. R. Feland, of Lawrenceburg, son of A. M. Feland, of this county, has petitioned the body against the mention of the divinity in the preamble of the new constitution, drawing the line between the civil and religious.

—After taking in the horse races at Lexington the con. con. resumed its tiresome debate on the Bill of Rights, which has been going on for over two weeks. It is estimated that each speech has cost the State $200, which is $200 more than a majority of them are worth.

—The plant of the Cherry-Morrow Manufacturing Co., in the Tennessee penitentiary, was burned; loss $275,000.

—A. M. Pence bought a 3-year-old bay filly by Count Wilkes, dam by Woodford Mambrino, at the Lexington sales for $530. J. P. Crow bought a yearling by Sultan, dam by George Wilkes for $300.

WESTWARD, HO!

THE FARMERS' HOME MARKET PROSPERITY.

The Home Market Argument Goes West to Grow Up with the Country—Its Failure in the East and West Alike Exasperating to Protectionists.

The era of high protection in the United States began with magnificent promises to our farmers. It was pointed out to them that they would be amply repaid for bearing the burden of increased prices for manufactured goods for a limited time—always "for a limited time." That repayment was to come in the shape of a home market for home products. This market was to have special advantages—was to be so much nearer to the farmer than the foreign market; there were to be no large bills of freight charges, no long voyages at sea, no "thralldom complete and perpetual" to foreign nations.

The one thing that was not set down in all these brilliant promises was that the prices to be paid for the farmer's produce in this home market should be higher than in the foreign market. It was not "so nominated in the bond," and our farmers go on selling from year to year in this home market and in the foreign market at precisely the same prices. And yet they are still being stuffed with the protectionist talk that the home market has some special excellence over and above the foreign market.

The results of this system were first seen and felt in the east. It began in the decline of New England farming villages and the desertion of New England hill farms. Right in the midst of the greatest manufacturing communities this decline of farming has gone on. The census just taken shows that the townships adjoining the principal manufacturing cities of Connecticut have lost about 10 per cent. of their population in ten years.

In New York state the decline has been equally marked. In 1887 Mr. J. R. Dodge, the high protectionist statistician of the department of agriculture, reported as follows: "New York farmers are more in debt than they were ten years ago. The average depreciation of farming lands is fully one-third in ten years. Probably one-third of the farms in the state would not sell for more than the cost of the buildings and other improvements. Thirty per cent. of the farms are mortgaged for two-thirds of their estimated value."

The protectionists have one stereotyped answer to these facts. It is western competition, they say; farming has gone west.

But it is becoming clearer and clearer that this answer will not hold water. Take Ohio, for instance. A correspondent of that high tariff organ The New York Tribune writes a letter to break the force of the recently published facts as to the decline of the farming population of Ohio, but he has to make admissions which damage his case fatally. He had to admit that the farm values of Wayne county had fallen off 6 per cent. in ten years, and that the loss of population is still greater.

Every county in the western reserve, he says, shows a loss of population in the agricultural districts. In view of these facts The Tribune's correspondent makes this sorrowful admission: "No one denies that there has been a depreciation of the farm lands of the state in the last decade." Then comes the cut-and-dried explanation, "the attraction of the cheap lands of the west."

Apparently we are not far enough west yet to find prosperity on the farm. Let us try Iowa. The commissioner of labor statistics in that state has just made public some facts of a startling character. He has received answers from 720 farmers "recommended to him as reliable persons."

From these reports he finds that "70 per cent. of the farmers of the state are prevented by pressure of their debts from holding their grain and other products for the best market prices. Eight per cent. have lost their farms by mortgage foreclosure since 1880." Thirty-eight per cent. of farmers' children are kept out of school fifty-eight days each school year to do farm work; 663 of these farmers report that since 1885 farm products have been sold below the cost of production. And so on and on.

Kansas and Nebraska are still further west. Do the protectionists find their paradise of home market prosperity for farmers in these two states? Is it not here that the mortgage companies are rapidly acquiring possession of farms and establishing a system resembling Irish landlordism? Is it not here that the Farmers' Alliance has gained its greatest strength as the direct outgrowth of the hard times which bear so heavily upon the farmers?

Where is the home market paradise of the farmer, anyway? Has it gone still further west to hide itself away among the Rockies, or to spread itself out very thin upon the wind swept plains of Wyoming?

To Escape McKinley Duties. In the general movement which was inaugurated during the summer to ship large quantities of merchandise from Europe in order to avoid the heavy duties of the McKinley bill, the dealers in tin plate were not behind merchants in other departments of business. The Metal Worker, of New York, reports that in July there were entered 261,574 boxes of tin plate, and in August 236,901 boxes, making a total of 498,475 boxes, against 390,977 boxes during the corresponding period last year.

The Prince of Wales' Health.

It is a question whether the Prince of Wales ever succeeds to the throne. His health is not robust; there are ugly rumors to the effect that Bright's disease has a hold upon him. But the prince cares little about being king. He does not court the anxieties and the onerous duties which his rise to that exalted station would necessarily involve; he is not an ambitious man; he loves and seeks the society of those whom he likes, and, true democrat that he is, he shudders when he thinks that there may come a time when he will be compelled to associate with men who cannot possibly have a human sympathy in common with himself.

His eldest son, the Duke of Clarence and Avondale, is a hulking, shiftless, good natured lubber, looking like his mother, but having neither his mother's tact or dignity nor his father's graciousness or strength of character. It seems to be a foregone conclusion that in the due course of time the duke will marry his cousin, the sweet and pretty daughter of the Princess of Teck.—Engage Field in Chicago News.

Two Bogus Lords Meet. A peculiar incident took place on Sunday. A man came up from New York and gained permission to see Birchall, who was at the time in the yard. The stranger gazed at the prisoner long and earnestly, taking note of every movement and everything about him. When his keen observation was got through he turned away with the remark: "Pshaw! he is only a shopkeeper anyway, a cad!" This visitor was the man arrested in Philadelphia some years ago for fraud and swindling, carried out under the name of Lord Somerset, which he had assumed, and with which title he had gained access to the best society in the city. At the present time he is in New York running a society paper, and he came up to Woodstock for the sole purpose of seeing the other bogus Lord Somerset, who had got into worse trouble through his lying than he had. It is a strange thing that there is a likeness between the two men.—Toronto Empire.

Salvator's Speed. While the public is still marveling over Salvator's wonderful performance in running a mile in 1:35 1/2 there are few who have, through comparison and analysis, sought to realize what a terrific burst of speed this is. It is nearly four miles an hour—a rate averaged by very few of our fastest trains. There are 5,280 feet in a mile, so that for every one of these ninety-five seconds—for every beat of a man's pulse—this wonderful horse covered 59 1/2 feet of ground. The shortest space of time noted by the turfman's watch is a quarter of a second—an interval so brief that the eye can hardly observe the mind can hardly appreciate it. Yet in every one of these 332 quarters of a second that magnificent creature leaped 16 3/4 feet. Such are the amazing results of careful breeding as exhibited in the American race horse. Is the human race improving in the same ratio? Scarcely.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Strangely Imprisoned in Bed. By an explosion of hot air and gas in the air receiver at the Clinton blast furnace at Pittsburg several thousand dollars' worth of damage was done. The accident was caused by the reversal of air and gas in the receiver. The effects of the force of the terrible concussion were visible on all the houses within a square of the furnace. In one house Thomas McIntyre, a laborer, who was asleep in a folding bed, was awakened by a very tight squeezing sensation. The concussion of the blast had loosened the fastenings of his bed, and it folded up with him in it. His cries for help brought the other members of the family to the rescue.—Cor. Philadelphia Press.

Mr. Gould's Wealth. Russell Sage's recent interview makes out Jay Gould a richer man than he is generally credited with being. Mr. Sage says Gould is the heaviest owner of securities in the world, his income alone from dividends being $2,000,000 a year. Outside of this he has an income of from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000. It is understood that Mr. Gould aims to make his wealth net him about 6 per cent., and if this is the case, and Mr. Sage knows what he is talking about, Mr. Gould will have to be moved up several pegs in the list of the country's rich men.—New York Letter.

Umbrella Parade. There was a novel display by the colored people of Elliott City, Md., a few days ago. It was called an umbrella parade, and consisted of a line of men dressed in dark clothes with white caps, carrying tri-colored umbrellas, and followed by two gaily decorated chariots containing children and ladies dressed in white, the whole headed by a band. While marching the umbrellas were kept constantly twirling, making a picturesque scene. The affair was under the auspices of the A. M. E. church.—Exchange.

Two new sorts of tea are reported from abroad. In England fashion has taken up a mixture of dried and cured berries. In Germany they are using strawberry tea, decocted from the young leaves of the strawberry plant after they have been dried and prepared like Chinese tea.

A western genius proposes a novel idea in connection with the national encampment of the Grand Army in Detroit next year. It is that instead of the customary parade for all the veterans present to be grouped upon a huge raft upon the river to be viewed from passing boats.

A case is on record in which naturalization papers were refused to a man because he did not know enough to vote. The judge who refused the application belongs in Reading, Pa. The would-be citizen who did not get his papers was originally an Austrian, though not a German. He did not know whether Americans were governed by a king, queen or president, or what the name of the gentleman at the head of our government was. The judge, whose name was Endlich, said he could not conscientiously grant naturalization papers to a man who did not know what form of government he wanted to swear allegiance to.

Remarkable Rescue. Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, when she settled on her lungs, she was treated for a month by her family physician but grew worse. Her druggist suggested the use of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles she found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at A. R.
